Allen Breiner re-elected to Ham Radio post

The American Radio Relay League in Newington, Conn., has recently informed Allen R. Breiner of Tamaqua that he had just been re-elected for another two-year term to the office of Section Manager for the 34 counties of Eastern Pennsylvania. Breiner, an avid Ham Radio operator, has been active in amateur radio since his early teens. The American Radio Relay League is the amateurs national organization and represents more than three quarters of a million licensed radio operators in the United States. There are over 10,000 alone in the Eastern Pennsylvania area which he will cover.

Some of his responsibilities will be that of appointing a team of Official Observers. These are amateurs qualified to act as monitors similar to the Hams own policing facility. His past experience with emergency situations where radio communications were required will be an asset in assisting amateur radio clubs and emergency groups in organizing and training in setting up emergency response teams.

He recently attended a three-day seminar at the national headquarters in Newington, exchanging ideas with other Section Managers and gaining knowledge on additional responsibilities and duties. In January, he attended a special forum in Harrisburg pertaining to Cellular Phones and Towers. His 11-member cabinet will meet in Tamaqua in April to plan future activities.
